JOHN CALVIN, THE GREAT REFORMER.

Four hundred years ago today there was born, in the little city of Noyon, in central France, one who was destined to play a prominent part in the political, social, mental and religious life of the next few centuries. It was the era of upheaval and reforming along almost every line of thought and action, and in it all the thought and effort of John Calvin was ever a leading factor. He is commonly called the greatest theological thinker of the past seven hundred years, and the religious life of Holland, Great Britain, and America has been influenced very largely by his work. Like most great men, he, by his firm stand in his conception of right, made firm friends and bitter enemies and this has ever been true of his teaching until this day.

But whatever we may think about the man and his theological views, as Americans we can but feel indebted to the people whom his writings had made strong to do and dare for freedom, both religious and political, for they were the ones who were leaders in the formation of our American Republic, as their forefathers had been in bringing about the larger political freedom in England, Scotland and Holland.

The historian Ranke says that, "John Calvin was virtually the founder of the American people."

Bancroft in his History of the United States says, "He that will not honor the memory and respect the influence of John Calvin knows but little of the origin of American independence."

Calvin was a power in bringing about all that we are proud of in our popular free education of the youth of our land without regard to wealth and position, and indeed, in many lesser ways, he was one who gave in large measure rich gifts of inspiration and leadership to future years.

Yet in some ways he was but the child of his age and partook of its follies and narrowness, notably in the well known case of the death of the so-called heretic, Servetus, although even in this Calvin was more lenient than the ideas of his age.

In recent years a new interest has been awakened in the theory of life as set forth in the teachings of Calvin because of the similarity of the Darwinian theory to it, and the relation of these two great systems of thought to the freedom of the will. With Calvin it is the selection on the part of God, while with Darwin it is "natural selection" that has been the determining factor in progress. There are many today who hold that in fact these two men are at one in their teaching as each explains life by the same determining power but give to that power a different source. This comparison of these two great systems of theology and science is receiving much attention in foreign reviews today and the question is being asked, "Is there a real difference between the Calvinist and the evolutionist?"

Today a large concourse of the leading thinkers of the nations of northern Europe are gathered in Geneva to commemorate anew the memory of this man, and tomorrow in many of the Dutch Reformed, Congregational, Baptist and Presbyterian churches of America the work of this one will be commemorated. Many who cannot endorse much of his teachings will gladly honor him for the spirit and fruitage of his life work.

An American committee, of which Theodore Roosevelt is president, has for some time been raising funds to erect a monument in Geneva, not to the memory of Calvin only, but to the great movement which he there inaugurated and of which he was a leading factor.

STORING WATER FOR LAND AROUND OGDEN.

The Weber Reservoir, Power & Irrigation company has issued a statement of the prospective development of the big irrigation scheme which is to open to settlement a vast tract of land north and south of Ogden. At the headwaters of the Weber River large storage reservoirs are to be created. The larger reservoir will be north of Coalville, in Summit county. The water will be stored above Echo, and as needed, will be conveyed into the river channel to a point above Peterson, Morgan county, where a dam will be built and from which point two canals, one on the south side and one on the north side to irrigate Weber Weber county farms, will be constructed. They will follow the line of the Union Pacific track through Weber canyon into Salt Lake valley. At the mouth of the canyon the canal will be 340 feet above the river bed, this elevation being sufficient to cover practically all tillable land in Weber and Davis counties. In all, something like fifty miles of main canal will be required, not including branch canals and laterals that will be needed for distribution. The additional cost of laterals will be borne by the irrigation district, to be organized under a law passed by the last legislature, and all landowners will get the water at the same figure, whether near the canal or in a more remote location, thus equalizing the burden.

It is estimated that the carrying out of the great undertaking will require an expenditure of $3,750,000, which is at the rate of $125 an acre for the 30,000 acres of arid lands that it is proposed to embrace. In this the 15,000 to 20,000 acres of semi-arid lands are not included, though a provision will be made for embracing such insufficiently watered tracts by allowing the owners of such lands to petition into the district after it is formed. The stipulation has been made that the lands shall not be bonded for a sum greater than $125 per acre. The entire $3,750,000 issue of bonds, which will, if voted, bear 6 per cent interest, will be taken at par by the eastern capitalists, whose representatives are now in Utah. They are said to be Chicago people, but their identity has not been made known. The bonds will run for twenty years. No interest will be charged during the first two years, or until the water is turned into the canal, after which time, and during the ten years following, the landowners are required to pay only the interest annually. In the eleventh year not less than 5 per cent of the principal will be called for; in the twelfth year, 6 per cent and so on in increasing ratio until at the end of the twenty year period, the principal will all be paid and the canal system will be the property of the landowners.

W. H. Rich of Morgan is president and director; G. Christensen of Ogden, vice president and director; Thomas L. Allen of Coalville, secretary, treasurer and director; John G. M. Barnes of Kaysville, director; James Green of Hooper, director; Heber J. Sheffield of Kaysville, director; Nephi Sargent of Hoytsville, director; Joseph H. Grant of Wood's Cross, director.

Ogden men of money are actively interested in making the project a success and part of the money to be obtained by a bond issue is said to have been guaranteed by local capitalists.

The future of agricultural development and horticultural expansion in this immediate vicinity depend on the storage of water. If the flood waters of the Weber are impounded near the headwaters of that stream and the branches of the Ogden River are reserved, 50,000 acres of new soil will be added to the productive area of this section and Ogden will advance in material wealth and population.

A RAILROAD WITH A SERIES OF MISHAPS.

The Rio Grande railroad is having more than its share of misfortunes. Washouts, landslides and wrecks are blocking the line at a time when the traffic officials were most desirous of making a good showing. Many special trains carrying Elks to the convention in Los Angeles are en route and have been detained by first washouts, the landslide and now a big wreck in which several lives have been sacrificed.

The main line of the Rio Grande was not in condition to resist the heavy floods of this spring and summer and when the big flow of water invaded the tracks a complete break down occurred.

The wreck of today though is attributable to nothing other than the carelessness of an engineer and might have occurred on any railroad. But all these damaging obstructions coming at this particular time have had the effect of making life a nightmare for the Rio Grande officials.

TAFT SHOULD BE WELCOMED TO OGDEN.

President Taft is coming West in September. He will reach Salt Lake City about September 19, and, according to his itinerary, should pass through Ogden the following day en route to the fair at Seattle. An effort will be made to include Ogden in his schedule of stops. The President, through his secretary, had signified a willingness to participate in the opening of the Four-State fair in Ogden were he here at that time, but his latest plans make such impossible. He can be prevailed upon, no doubt, to carry the people of Ogden or take a carriage driver over the city, which would require his presence here for three or four hours.

The coming of the President should be recognized as an important event and preparation made to do fitting honor to the head of this nation.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

Governor Spry, with commendable foresight, has issued a proclamation directing attention to the sessions of the National Irrigation Congress to be held in Spokane, beginning August 9 next. The governor, in urging the sending of strong delegations from Utah, says:

"Impressed by the wonderful influence wielded by the National Irrigation congresses in the development and upbuilding of the west; and realizing the great importance of the questions which will be discussed at the coming congress, I, William Spry, governor of the state of Utah, do hereby direct the attention of the citizens of this state to the seventeenth National Irrigation congress, to be held at Spokane, Wash., August 9 to 14, 1909, and urge upon the thoughtful consideration of its purposes—to save the forests, to store the floods, to reclaim the deserts and to make homes on the land.

"The wanton waste of nature's most generous gifts is being noted the country over with regret and condemnation. An effort is being put forth in the national 'conservation of resources' movement—a remedial campaign along scientific lines for the preservation of our forests and the reclamation of our lands.

"The National Irrigation congress is a potent factor in this national movement, and in addition is one of the western origin.

"Utah has always taken an active and prominent part in the deliberations of these congresses and I earnestly recommend the hearty support and co-operation can be best given in a strong Utah delegation at the congress."

Art Criticism.

"I don't like marble statues," said the fluffy young thing. "They always look as if they had a cataract or something of that kind the matter with their eyes."

The Helen Taft Collar

A NEW collar has been invented and named after the president's daughter. It is made of fine net and insertion, and its distinguishing feature is a ruffle which arises from the Dutch collar. It also boasts of unusually long ties, which are held in place by means of a jet cameo pin of the old fashioned kind.

SALT LAKE AND STATE NEWS

JORDAN RIVER GIVES UP DEAD.

Body of Antone Nucic of Midvale Taken From Water Near Murray.

Salt Lake, July 10.—The Jordan river gave up a gruesome object Thursday when the nude body of Antone Nucic, an Austrian, was taken out of the stream near Murray. The body was found by three boys who reside near the stream, and was floating face downward in the shadow of the bank. The body was in a state of decomposition. The young men threw a rope around the shoulders of the body and hoisted it upon the bank. Undertaker C. H. Banks was notified and with the assistance of the young men the body was placed in a pine box. The features were terribly bloated.

Nucic disappeared from Midvale four days ago. Just before quitting work for the night at the United States smelter, he told his companions that it was his intention to take a swim in the Jordan river before retiring for the night. He was not in bed the next morning, when his companions went to arouse him, and a search for him was of no avail. A party went to the Jordan river and found his clothing piled on the bank. Swimmers went up and down the stream, but could find no trace of the missing man. A reward of $50 was offered by John Kisting for the recovery of the body. Undertaker Banks wired to a brother of the dead man in Colorado, and a reply came directing burial at Murray, and the body of Nucic was interred in the South Cottonwood cemetery. Nucic was one of the well-to-do Austrians in Midvale, and was insured for $1,000. He was a member of an Austrian secret society of that place.

PROVO WILL HELP TO ENTERTAIN VETERANS

Provo, July 9.—At a rousing meeting held by the boosters of the Commercial club, it was decided that Provo would not only do all that had been asked of her by the G. A. R. committee in Salt Lake City, but would add a number of features in the entertainment of the old soldiers that will surprise them.

The Commercial club will immediately order 400 pounds of the best coffee obtainable to be sent to the Women's G. A. R. committee in Salt Lake. A committee was appointed from members of the club, with instructions to do all in its power to aid Salt Lake City entertain the veterans. "Live wires," who will try to make Provo second to no town in the state for hospitality to the boys in blue are W. H. Ray, William M. Roylance, T. McNeill, J. C. Graham and Joseph P. Farrer.

GRAND CENTRAL IS IN RICH ORE BODY.

Salt Lake City, July 9.—George Havercamp was up from Provo yesterday and gives a glowing report of present conditions at Grand Central mine. He says that the management has opened up an eighteen-foot breast of copper and gold ore in the west drift of the 2,000-foot level, and that the extent of the ore is still undetermined.

Forces are now working in the 1600 and 1800-foot drifts to the west to tap this same ore deposit, which is generally conceded to be the Centennial-Eureka vein. It is expected that the vein will be cut on these levels within the next ten days. If it is found in place on these levels it is agreed by all interests that the Grand Central will be a new mine and almost immediately become one of the large producers in the Tintic district. Locally a great deal of interest is manifested in the development now going on in Grand Central. A large number of its shares are held in this city, and some of the holders have been interested in the property since its inception. The means of reaching the camp and increasing development operations in a great many other properties.

Grand Central has paid to date approximately $1,500,000 in dividends. Should the new ore zone prove to be of large proportions, it seems highly

MEDICAL CORPS NOW ORGANIZED

Plans have been arranged by Dr. W. F. Beer chairman of the medical corps of the forty-third national encampment, for a thoroughly organized corps of physicians which will provide medical attention for all cases of accident during the period of the encampment. This is considered one of the most important committees of the entire affair, and it is a source of satisfaction to the executive committee that the plans of the medical committee have been so well worked out.

A large part of the sixth floor of the Boston building, including the offices of Dr. Beer, will be converted into an emergency hospital and will be headquarters for all accident cases which occur in connection with the encampment, and for the dispensing of medicine and medical assistance to all the Grand Army veterans. There will be an operating room with a number of cots and beds and with a competent corps of trained nurses and physicians always on duty.

This temporary hospital will be used for all first aid to the injured. If the first aid is not sufficient, the cases will immediately be hurried to a special retention hospital which is to be arranged on the tennis grounds of the L. D. S. hospital. A large number of trained nurses and ten doctors will be ready at all times at this place to render all assistance required under the direction of Dr. Beer and his assistant Dr. Dore Woodruff.

To provide against accidents to the veterans on the day of the great parade, twenty-five trained nurses will be placed at different points along the line of march, beginning at the corner of Third South and State streets, where the parade will start, and will be scattered from that point along State street to South Temple street and thence along Main street to Seventh South.

At the corners of First South, Third South and Fifth South, Red Cross automobiles ambulances will be stationed. In case of accident the nurses nearest that point will assume charge, render whatever assistance is possible and summon an ambulance. The patients will then be taken to Exchange Place by a roundabout route in order to avoid the line of march. A corps of nurses also will be in attendance at the scene of the living flag for the special care of the children who take part in that portion of the parade. Signs of the Red Cross also will be placed at different points about the city, where the veterans may obtain medical assistance.

It has been the experience in affairs of this kind, it is said, that there are numerous cases of slight accidents, especially cases of weariness and prostrations from the heat, and it is necessary to care for these immediately. The proper organization of the hospital corps is, therefore, necessary in order to eliminate, as far as possible any difficulty or confusion, and to see that the chance of injury to health from exhaustion or other causes is made as slight as possible.

The plans of Dr. Beer have been submitted to Colonel Sterrett, the executive director, and have been accepted by him.

WILL SOON REPORT ON THOMAS INVESTIGATION

Salt Lake, July 9.—Harry S. Joseph, president of the board of trustees of the State Industrial school, and chairman of the committee which made an investigation of the charges against Superintendent Thomas of the school, is awaiting the return of State Superintendent of Public Instruction A. C. Nelson, who is attending the meeting of the National Educational association at Denver. Just as soon as he returns the committee will be called to gather to consider the evidence and report their findings.

The industrial school board of trustees has adopted a rule that after an application for a parole has been heard by the board, that no further application for a parole for the same person will be heard until a period of ninety days has elapsed. The state board of pardons requires a period of six months between applications, and the industrial school board has made the time in this institution just one-half that of the first named board.

On July 3 the board of trustees paroled forty boys inmates of the state school for five days, in order that they might spend the Fourth of July with their parents or other relatives. Of this number, all reported at the industrial school Wednesday evening but one, who ran away. This speaks well for the inmates of the institution and shows what boys will do when put upon their honor. The lad who ran away will be captured and returned to the state school.

TWO LAND DEALS IN BOX ELDER

Brigham, July 7.—Congressman Joseph Howell has purchased all the land and holdings of the Promontory Stock company out at Promontory and Blue creek. Mr. Howell will incorporate a company at once and have the lands appraised, and then it will be offered for sale in tracts large or small to suit the convenience of the purchaser.

In all there are something like 260,000 acres, and by cutting this up it will mean homes for thousands of people, because nearly all of the company's holdings is first-class land for arable farming.

The Utah-Idaho Orchard company, composed of Messrs. Israel Hunsaker, Lorenzo N. Stahl and Joseph N. Stahl, have disposed of their 160-acre apple orchard just north of Honeyville.

The land is being cut up into five-acre plots and sold to people who desire a home where they can make a livelihood.

Sunday a company of buyers went up from Salt Lake City, under the chaperonage of C. A. Holmquist, the agent who is selling the lands, and eleven tracts of five acres each were disposed of. The company has forty-nine acres of younger trees which it is holding for the present, but which will be disposed of later if the 160 acres all go.

REWARD.

A reward of $25.00 will be paid to any person furnishing information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons guilty of stealing copper wire, copper bonds, ties or other material from along the line of the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway. SALT LAKE & OGDEN RAILWAY COMPANY.

TROOPS CALLED TO PROTECT LEGATION

La Paz, Bolivia, July 9.—At 9 o'clock tonight a furious mob attacked the Argentine legation. Troops have been called out on the track and are maintained for the safety of the Argentine minister. The trouble is the outcome of the decision rendered by President Alcora of Argentina in the boundary dispute between Peru and Bolivia.

Senator Ponzecca is the Argentine minister to Bolivia. Great crowds that had been parading the streets finally turned in the direction of the Argentine legation, which they surrounded. There were shouts of rage and stones and other missiles were hurled at the building. The local authorities endeavored to check the manifestations, and at length the government found it necessary to order cut the troops. Both this legation and the Peruvian legation are now under a strong guard.

The Bolivian people unanimously protest against the decision rendered by President Alcora, which they considered most unjust. The territory involved is the famous Acre district, recently purchased by Brazil from Bolivia for $10,000,000, notwithstanding the fact that Peru issued a warning that the territory was at that time the subject of arbitration. Peru's complications are certain to involve Brazil.

Buenos Ayres, July 9.—Dr. Victor, ine De La Plaza, minister of foreign affairs, today invited the ministers of Bolivia and Peru, accredited to the Argentine government, to call at the foreign office in order to lay before them the arbitral decision rendered by President Alcora on the boundaries between the two countries which have been the subject of dispute for a long time.

The Bolivian minister failed to appear at the ministry, and the decision was outlined to the Peruvian minister this evening.

The Bolivian minister said he refused the invitation in order not to commit his government on the decision. President Alcora divides the contested territory almost equally between the two countries, but nevertheless favors Peru. The new frontier follows for the greater part the sixty-ninth Greenwich meridian.

Lima, Peru, July 9.—Telegrams received here from Buenos Ayres give a resume of the decision reached by the Argentine government. Dr. Porras, minister of foreign affairs, said tonight that the Peruvian government was perfectly satisfied with the decision which, he said, would make more friendly the relations between Peru and Bolivia.

CONDITIONS AT BIG DAM ARE SERIOUS

Chevenne, July 9.—Reports received here tonight indicate that conditions at the Pathfinder dam at Alcora, said to be the largest in the world, are most serious. Water is now over the walls, and is held only by a temporary dyke built on a gravel foundation. Seventy men and ninety horses are working day and night to strengthen the dyke.

MOTION IS DENIED BY JUSTICE GAYNOR

New York, July 9.—Supreme Court Justice Gaynor tonight denied the motion recently made before him for the removal of the Thaw insanity hearing from West Chester county to New York county.

Justice Gaynor referred to New York county's plea that the convenience of expert witnesses whom it desired to ask a lengthy question, would be served by the removal of the case to New York, and said: "Thaw has now been confined in the state lunatic asylum for a year, and the experienced and practical physicians in charge there ought to be suffice for the experts of the state question, whether this man, who has already been adjudged a lunatic by Justice Morschauer, after a full hearing, has since recovered, and may safely be properly set at large."
